STORM WATER INFORMATION

Protecting Our Waterways: Scoop the Poop!

Did you know that pet waste can be a major source of water pollution? When it rains, pet waste left on the ground can be washed into storm drains and eventually end up in our rivers, lakes, and streams. This can harm water quality, making it unsafe for swimming and fishing, and even affect our drinking water.

Even worse, pet waste carries harmful bacteria that can make people sick. It can also upset the natural balance of our waterways, harming fish and other aquatic life.

But there's good news! We can all be part of the solution. By simply scooping up after our pets and disposing of the waste properly, we can help keep our water clean and protect our environment.

Remember:

- Always carry bags with you when walking your pet.
 - Scoop the poop and toss the bag in the trash.
 - Make use of pet waste stations in parks and neighborhoods.
- Let's work together to keep Auburn's waterways clean and healthy for everyone!

AUBURN POLICE DEPARTMENT

AUBURN POLICE FOUNDATION

The Auburn Police Department extends its gratitude to Waffle House, Inc. for their second consecutive year of generous donations to the Auburn Police Foundation. This foundation, established in 2018, provides financial assistance to Auburn police officers facing catastrophic events. As one of only 38 Qualified Law Enforcement Foundations in Georgia, the Auburn Police Foundation relies on the generosity of donors like Waffle House, Inc. to support our officers in times of need. These tax-deductible donations, made possible by the Law Enforcement Strategic Support Act, benefit both our department and the City of Auburn.
